Planning Board To Hold Meeting Tuesday On C-2

The Carmel Planning Commission postponed action yesterday on the C-2 interim ordinance amendment until an adjourned meeting on Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock. During this time they will study recommendations to be submitted to them by C-2 property owners.

In a recent committee meeting of C-2 property owners' representatives Thomas K. Perry, Keith Evans, J. O. Handley and James Pruitt with Commissioners Herbert Blanks, Fred Keeble and Chairman George Willox, the C-2 representatives asked the planners to permit apartment houses in C-2 which are not combined with stores. The C-2 interim ordinance amendment at present proposes that apartments may be constructed only in combination with commercial uses. Also, C-2 property owners asked the Commissioners to consider reducing the required area for each C-2 dwelling unit from 1,000 to 800 square feet.

C-2 property owners think that multiple dwelling apartment development is better suited to the proposed Junipero Street main entrance to Carmel than the commercial service and store-apartment combination use proposed in the C-2 interim ordinance amendment, and the proposed straight commercial service uses.

Before Tuesday's adjourned meeting C-2 property owners will present recommendations to the Commission for study. Then final action may be taken by the Commission on Tuesday and the C-2 ordinance amendment sent to the City Council for public hearing and adoption or rejection.

Paul Hill was granted an extension of time for added construction at Hill's Corner's. Robert Cady was given permission to remodel the store on Lincoln Street formerly occupied by Louda's when the Planning Commission considered architectural matters.

Dealing with land use the Planning Commission authorized City

KITE FESTIVAL SATURDAY

Carmel's Annual Kite Festival is on Saturday afternoon. A parade starting at 1:15 at Sunset School will continue down Ninth Street to Camino Real past the home of the late Reverend Willis White, founder of the festival. The cars and city trucks filled with kite flyers will next go along Camino Real to Ocean Avenue then up the hill to the High School where kites will be flown on the football field.

H. L. Ireland, Secretary of Carmel Protective Association reports an enthusiastic reponse to the appeal to the citizens in Carmel and surrounding area. At this writing more than 1500 persons have appealed the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control's decision to license a transfer of a restaurant and bar immediately opposite Carmel's city park (Devendorf Plaza) where children are in the habit of playing and romping especially on sunny days. These pictures show what a bright warm day will do to bring the children to the park. The brick building in the background is the proposed new bar location. The Liquor Board of Sacramento discounted the use of the park for play purposes.

Many more signatures to the appeal are needed and citizens are urged to act at once so that the appeals reach Sacramento by April 5. Contributions will be also welcomed to help defray expenses of the campaign.

Steve Will Go To Supervisors Again For Zoning

Tuesday, Steve Patterson got a second "no" from the county planning commission. So he will go before the county board of supervisors again (probably on April 15) with his request for rezoning his Garrapata Creek property from residence to commercial use. He wants to build a restaurant, bar and motel units between highway No. 1 and the ocean, sixteen miles south of Carmel on the way to the Big Sur. The property is adjacent to Garrapata Beach which is earmarked by county and state for acquisition as a state park.

Two months ago the county planning commission unanimously denied the rezoning application after eleven months of study and

Mission Tract To Meet Today With County Engineer

There will be a meeting this afternoon at 4:00 o'clock at River School of Mission Tract property owners to hear County Road Commissioner Chester Dudley's report on their drainage problem.

The gist of the report is that the county will improve the roads and solve the drainage only after curbs and gutters are installed. Many of the residents are opposed to curbs and gutters, considering them citified, unattractive, and inharmonious to appearance and atmosphere of the Mission Tract.

Mary Lindsay-Oliver Program Sunday

Mary Lindsay-Oliver and two of her artist pupils will give a short program as a Vesper Service next Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Robert Louis Stevenson School.

David Schoenbrod, baritone, soloist with the choir of the Church of the Wayfarer, and Valerie Hattery, mezzo-soprano, who has sung in recital at the Carmel Foundation, will give arias from oratorios by Handel and Gaul besides a duet by Knapp. Lindsay-Oliver, composer-pianist, and Pine Cone music editor, will play some compositions of her own. The program is open to the public as well as friends of the school.

Pruitt Ready To Start New Fire District With Tax Limit Provision

Carmel Unincorporated Fire District voters said No on Tuesday to a tax of unspecified amount to provide added fire protection for areas outside the city limits. The vote was 596 against to 318 for the taxation which has to be set by Fire Commissioners James Pruitt, Ed Neroda and Frank Bray.

Appointed commissioners by the board of supervisors the three men had asked for a 40 cent tax to negotiate with the City of Carmel for a mutual protection agreement. They promised the tax rate would not exceed 50 cents if the Unincorporated Fire District was unable to share Carmel's fire protection and had to provide separate fire fighting equipment and housing within the unincorporated area. The district was originally set up with no tax limit and Bray, Neroda and Pruitt had to work within this set up. Legally no specified tax could appear on the ballot.

"The no tax limit beat the proposal," said James Pruitt after results were known. Wednesday morning he consulted with the district attorney about forming a new fire district with a tax limit and dissolving the present district.

"We are waiting for a letter from the district attorney containing information," said Pruitt, "then we can see what we can do."

Capt. Archer M. R. Allen, president of the Carmel Unincorporated property owners group feels that the threat of increased taxes defeated the proposal on Tuesday.

Final Spurt For Red Cross Drive

Corum Jackson, chairman of the Carmel Chapter of the American Red Cross, called a meeting on Monday of chapter members active in the current fund drive which is $8,000 behind the goal of $25,890.

Mr. Jackson, concerned about this lag, urged volunteers to reach the quota this weekend during the last three days of the drive.

"This is the first year since 1935 we have failed to meet our quota," he said. Mr. Jackson is urging contributors to send in their Red Cross donations as quickly as possible so "our perfect record won't be marred."

Volunteers will be stationed Thursday, Friday and Saturday on Dolores Street in front of Irving Lundborg and Co., on Ocean Avenue in front of the Bank of Carmel, and in Pebble Beach at the Post Office, for the convenience of those who have not, as yet, sent in their contributions.

The chapter's doggerel slogan for this week end is

Keep the Drive alive
We haven't failed since '35.

CARMEL WINS PAIR FROM LIVE OAK

Carmel High's varsity and jv baseball squads opened the league season in a winning manner last Friday as the varsity team clipped the Oak varsity, 10 to 7, and the junior-varsity edged the Acorns, 8 to 7. Both games were typical early season high school games with plenty of errors, wild pitchers, and erratic base running.

Tim O'Shea, a swift lefty given to fits of wildness, pitched the win for the varsity setting down the visitors with two hits, striking out seven, and walking two in his five inning stint on the mound. Cim Conway relieved the lefty in the sixth inning and pitched steady ball in the last two heats. Sloppy infield support kept the Padres in hot water for most of the game as erratic throwing chalked up six errors for Carmel. Live Oak hit the scoreboard for a pair of markers in the first inning when the leadoff man singled into left, stole second, advanced to third on a passed ball, and scored as the Padre catcher threw on over the third baseman's head. A walk, a pair of passed balls, and an infield miscue produced the second Acorn run. Wildness on the part of the Live Oak pitching staff accounted for most of the Carmel runs as the Padre hitters were able to pick up only hits during the seven-inning game. Tim O'Shea produced the longest blow of the afternoon, hitting one over the tennis courts in right field for a ground rule double.

Coach Dan Yurkovich's junior-varsity team showed good promise in gaining the nod over the highly-rated Live Oak jayvee squad. With freshmen and sophomores manning all the positions, the Little Padres came with a rush in the late innings to overcome a two-run deficit and gain the verdict over the Acorns. Phil O'Shea went the entire distance on the mound for the Carmel nine, limiting the Acorns to four hits and striking out seven. Dave Hansen, Pete Osborne, and Mike Mitchell played outstanding ball in the Padricito infield while Mike O'Shea made a sparkling catch in centerfield to snuff out an Acorn rally.

PADRE NINE AT GILROY FRIDAY; HOST HOLLISTER NEXT TUESDAY

In search of their third straight win of the current season, the Carmel High varsity baseball squad journeys to Gilroy Friday afternoon for a joust with Coach Art Baxter's Mustangs. The green but hard-trying Carmel lads have gained decisions over San Lorenzo and Live Oak so far this year but will be faced with much tougher opposition when they take the field against the Gilroy nine. The Mustangs will throw an all-league pitcher, Julian Aguilar, against the Padres and this big fellow has speed enough to knock the bats out of the hitters hands. Gilroy has a 1-1 league record for the season, losing a close one to the Gonzales Spartans and blanking the Pacific Grove nine, 2 to 0. Parker Pollock, junior righthander, will open on the mound for the Padres with Joe Mason behind the plate. This will be Pollock's first start this season but the husky curve-ball artist has good poise on the pitching rubber and has shown good control in practice.

While the varsity clubs are playing at Gilroy, the junior-varsity teams will be squaring off at the Carmel diamond in a 4 o'clock game. Phil O'Shea will be the starting pitcher for the Carmel jayvee nine with David Hansen behind the log. These two lads are freshmen and will cause quite a stir in Carmel athletic circles before they graduate.

Next Tuesday afternoon, the Hollister Haybalers visit Bardarson Field for a league game with the Padres. Favored to win the title this year, Hollister is equipped with an all-veteran aggregation which has been thoroughly tested in league and junior legion play.

CRICKET PRACTICE SUNDAY AT H. S. FOOTBALL FIELD

Cricket season starts on Sunday afternoon when members of the Del Monte Cricket Club meet at the Carmel High School Field at 2:30 o'clock for their first practice.

Tony McFayden is president and captain this year. Alec Merivale, secretary, is back from Europe where he spent last season. Two new members have joined the group, Dr. Rex Whitworth, pediatrician from Salinas, who is a graduate of King's College, Cambridge University, and George Usher, a Scot, now a teacher at Fremont Junior High School in Seaside.

Any former cricket player is asked to come to the High School Field on Sunday afternoon and help make this year's season the best ever.

SOFTBALL MEETING SET FOR MONDAY NIGHT

The Carmel Merchants Softball team is now being formed according to player-manager Paul Artellan. Don Sands will be the acting coach and counselor for the team.

A meeting will be held Monday April 1 at 6:45 p.m. at the Carmel Legion Hall to discuss the coming 1957 season. Those interested in playing softball are welcome to attend.

SECOND TRYOUT FOR CARMEL LITTLE LEAGUE

The next tryout for the Carmel Little League will take place at 9:00 a.m. on Saturday, March 30. This tryout and the remaining two will be held at the Little League field on Rio Road just South of the Carmel Mission.

All youngsters who did not bring copies of their birth certificates last Saturday must do so this Saturday.

Last Saturday's tryout was very successful with 126 eager youngsters being observed by the four managers.

Due to unavoidable circumstances there has been a change of managers. Lew McCreery has replaced Dan Yurkovich as manager of the Carmel Sport Shop team.

KING CITY TOO SWIFT FOR PADRE TRACK TEAM

Running up against stern opposition in both the lightweight and varsity divisions last Saturday, the Carmel High track squads were snowed under, 70 to 43, in the varsity class and 71-42 in the light-weight division. King City was equipped with speed to burn in both divisions and off Saturday's performance against the Padres should be rated as favorites to win the CCAL B-division meet this year. Tim Smith was a triple winner for the Mustangs, copping both hurdle races and running a lap on the winning relay team. Hampton Stewart won two firsts for the Padres, leaping 5-8 to win the high jump and doing a 55-second 440 to win that event. Stewart also earned a second place in the broad jump.

Point-makers for the Padre varsity were: Bert Macahilig, 2nd in the 100 and 220; Dave Kahn, 3rd in 100; Greg Scherman, 3rd in 440; Art Wilkerson, 1st in the mile; Dan Richardson, 3rd, in

Rejto Is Soloist For Symphony In April 8 Concert

Fourth concert of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra will be on April 8 in Sunset Auditorium at 8:30 o'clock in the evening. Director Gregory Millar will present the orchestra in music by Kabalevsky, Dvorak and Shostakovich. Appearing as soloist with the orchestra in the Dvorak cello concerto will be Gabor Rejto, Hungarian cellist and pupil of Pablo Casals. Rejto has been soloist with many of the great European orchestras. In the United States he has been a member of the Lener and Gordon String quartets and at present is cellist for the Alma Trio. For five years he was head of the cello and chamber music departments of the Eastman School of Music of the University of Rochester. Each Summer Gabor Rejto heads the cello and chamber music departments of the Music Academy of the West in Santa Barbara.

Funds to finance the last concert of the 1956-57 County Symphony Concert on May 20 "are urgently needed" according to Symphony Association president Eben Whittlesey. "The Association must raise money within the next month to meet an expected seasonal deficit of $3010" he continued.

H. S. Johnson

Howard Smith Johnson of St. Paul, Minnesota, died on March 21 in a local hospital.

Mr. Johnson was on his annual visit here with his sister, Mrs. Paul Flanders of Hatton Fields.

He was born in St. Paul, Minnesota, on August 22, 1895. He attended Chicago and Cornell Universities then became an official in the American Hoist and Derrick Company of St. Paul, a firm founded by his father, Frank James Johnson, and Oliver Crosby. He retired from the company last year but continued to serve on the board of directors.

Mr. Johnson travelled extensively and was an ardent golfer. He developed his hobby of legerdemmain to the point where he was admitted to closed meetings of professional magicians, an honor seldom accorded an amateur. He held a card in the American Magicians' Association.

His marriage to Mrs. Yodee Remsen took place in 1928. The couple came to Carmel for part of each year and maintained homes in St. Paul and White Bear Lake in Michigan.

Survivors, besides his wife and Mrs. Flanders are a daughter, Mrs. Thomas Patrick Wann of Rock Island, Illinois; a son, Frank James Johnson II of Manhattan Beach; three other sisters, Mrs. Jessel Whyte of Kenosha, Wisconsin, Mrs. Elbert Clark of Winnetka, Illinois, and Mrs. Warner of Scarsdale, New York; three grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Private funeral services were held on March 22 in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea Crematorium, in Pacific Grove. Memorial services for members of the family were held on Sunday afternoon at Outlands, Mrs. Flander's home in Hatton Fields.

Those wishing to honor the memory of Mr. Johnson are asked to do so in the form of donations to the American Red Cross.

Paul's Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Harriet Duncan's Fashion Show At Stock Exchange

With the closing quotations on Monday evening's Board as background, and with the "walk way" of the Irving Lundborg & Co. Stock Exchange as stage, Harriet Duncan will present what promises to be Carmel's most unusual fashion show next Monday night at 8:00 o'clock.

Taking as a theme, "Dividends are a girl's best friend," Miss Duncan, in the person of 20 models displaying 40 different costumes, will illustrate how effectively fashion dividends pay off. "This is a fashion show given at night so that men as well as women may attend," declares Miss Duncan. "Fashion pays dividends just as surely as a wisely chosen portfolio of securities. We will show needful, useful spring fashions for any climate, or any place on the face of the earth. Costumes for commuters to Hong Kong, as well as for style-aware women who live here on the Monterey Peninsula."

Footwear fashions and coordinated handbags, to complete the Duncan apparel, will come from James Rowe's Village Shoe Tree on Ocean Avenue. Don Mann of NB Flowers will provide floral decor, while Henry Dunakin of Henry's Hair Styling Salon will be in charge of models' coiffeurs. Bob Davis will preside at the piano.

Rollo Payne and Fred Hollenbeck of Irving Lundborg & Co. are enthusiastic about Miss Duncan's choice of their premises for the show. "To our knowledge this is the first time that a fashion show has been held in the offices of a New York Stock Exchange member," said Rollo Payne. "Since out of all stockholders more than fifty per cent are women, it seems perfectly natural to have the fashion show here showing women what their dividends can buy in the way of smart useful well-chosen apparel."

Models for Harriet Duncan will be: Mrs. David Akin, Mary Dickinson, Camilla Doe, Mrs. Chase Drake, Mrs. Tony (Pam) McFayden, Mrs. Ralph Rae Strange III, Mrs. Roger Foster, Miss Sue Hirst, Mrs. Clyde N. Young, Mrs. A. Kent, Mrs. Fred Stanley, Mrs. Thomson Jay Hudson, Mrs. Thomas Handley, Mary Jacobson, Dorothy Dean, Mrs. Stuart Mitchell, and Miss Lucinda Lloyd.

Harriet Duncan will be commentator and informal opening remarks will be given by a member of the Lundborg firm. Models will display separates, dresses, suits and costumes on a round-the-clock program of fashion dividends. No tickets or reservations are required. Admission is without charge.

Mona Williams Sells Book On Her Birthday

Mona Williams felt that Tuesday was just like any other day, even if it was her birthday, until the telephone rang at noon and she found herself part of a triangular hookup from New York. The other two participants in the three-way conversation were her agent and a representative of Putnam and Sons, publishers.

"How did you come through the earthquake?" they asked her. Mona told them, all the while wondering what they were going to say about her novel, The Marriage. Was it going to be published or rejected? Finally, they told her it will be published in October by Putnam's.

"How wonderful for you to tell me this on my birthday!" said Mona and the day became brighter, more like a birthday.

A dinner at the home of her older daughter, Mrs. Edgar Bryant, added another festive note to the day, then, when Mona arrived home at 9:00 o'clock, she found a group of close friends had gathered to surprise her with a party, arranged by her younger daughter, Lacy and her sister, Mrs. Dan Conway.

"This is the most wonderful birthday I have ever had," said Mona, "and to think that this morning I thought it was just another day."

Sprightly Cast Makes New Play At Players Circle Good Entertainment

By Max Tadlock

Following what almost seems to be an F. Hugh Herbert formula, for Love or Money currently playing at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre has as its major theme the development of a love interest between a wide-eyed ingenue and a man-of-the-world 15 years her senior. Similar to Herbert's The Moon Is Blue, much of the comedy in this play arises in the conflict between the heroine's rather wise naivete and the hero's rather naive sophistication.

Perfectly charming as the pert young heroine Janet Blake is Dolores Pickens. No newcomer to Circle fans, she last appeared there in Fresh Fields. Terry Eby, another well-known Peninsula performer, playing the graying Preston Mitchell, is torn between his "paternal interest" in Janet and the lure of continued physical pleasures promised by his leading lady, Nita Havemeyer. Emilija Sosic as Nita displays the talent that has marked her appearance in a number of other Peninsula performances. Both she and Eby turn in polished portrayals.

Two newcomers to the stage are Don Jacobs, who does an exceptionally good job as Bill Tremaine the war veteran-college man who displays his infatuation for Janet most openly; and Cleveland Dayton, taciturn houseman for Mr. Mitchell, whose one-syllable responses put Gary Cooper in the shade. Mr. Mitchell's prying but sympathetic housekeeper, Mrs. Early, was well done by Virginia Beattie.

The next door enighbors and parents of Bill Tremaine are played by Stephen Pack, who handles his bit with skill; and Anne McElroy, who could give lessons to almost any performer on the Peninsula in making a scene come alive. With tremendous talent, she imbues what is only a bit part with the same vitality and stage presence that mark her successes in lead roles. For those familiar with her mother's similar skill, this is just a case of "blood will out."

Direction and staging were handled by Archie Hess in yeomanly fashion.

Although the opening night crowd was disappointingly slim, those present seemed to enjoy an evening of light "escape" fare. Performances will run Friday through Sunday for five weekends.

The Time Has Come .

By Kippy Stuart

Differences of opinions are universal, and among gardeners, the gap, at times, is appalling. Recently, a friend from the east, who is an accredited landscape architect, visited me to see what all this fuss was about Carmel-by-the-Sea.

This friend hails from Palm Beach, Florida, where recently I visited. It was with great pride that I looked forward to conducting a tour of Carmel streets and by-ways.

First, I drove down Scenic Drive, pointing out our rugged coastline, which differs so drastically from the Atlantic beaches. In Florida, there is nothing but long stretches of sand beaches, without one escarpment of rugged rocks to break the monotony. Frank was charmed by our coastline, then glanced at the cottages facing the ocean. His first remark floored me. Said Frank:

"What messy fronts those houses have. Doesn't anyone ever weed or prune here? Now . . . you should see the vast estates that face our Florida waterfront. Not one leaf out of place, not one shrub unpruned."

"But Frank, don't forget that I have recently seen Palm Beach where, as you say, every lawn is manicured and every tree and shrub is pruned within an inch of its life."

In a very superior manner, Frank remarked, "Well?"

Me, (getting a bit testy), "You can't compare a virgin forest with a city park. Who wants to live in a place where Nature has been subdued to the whim of man? . . . and another thing, what is the shibboleth of Palm Beach? . . . money . . . money . . . money. Here in Carmel we are too proud and too cultivated a community to dwell on the almighty dollar to the exclusion of simplicity!"

Frank: "I am talking about landscaping. This entire town looks as though it had sprung from some wild dreams of a child."

Me: "And what is more charming than the dreams of a child?"

Frank: "Do you remember our Royal Palms, how they border our streets for miles and miles?"

And here is where I let go my blast. "Do I remember just! There isn't one natural tree or shrub in the whole of that Florida coastline. Every tree and shrub has been dragged in by commercial effort, every walk and path has been designed by rule of thumb. I got so darned tired looking at all those patterned estates with high walls, and locked gates, each one exactly like its neighbors. Take a look at our glorious trees, those lordly pines that have been here for generations, the Pinus radiata, found only in this locality. Look at our natural shrubs that grow here because they love the place! Do you see one home front that looks like its neighbors? Nature has given us diversity, individuality, and to Carmel residents, a tree is something holy."

By this time I had Frank beaten to a pulp. The very idea of some stranger trying to compare Carmel with any other place!

Suddenly Frank began to chuckle, then went off into gales of laughter. "Hey Kippy, stick in that lip of yours. You sure are 'that way' about Carmel. I must confess that I have no particular spiritual response to the Eastern landscaping." After a drive along Thirteenth Avenue and Junipero Street, I had the lad convinced. He oh-ed and ah-ed that a community, in this day and age, incorporated such natural scenery within city limits. I corrected Frank here. Not "city limits", but "village limits." "We are determined to keep the old fashioned village concept."

I showed my friend a few places I had landscaped and he honored me by remarking that these places looked as though they had all grown here naturally.

We paused on Junipero Street beneath the shelter of those lovely natural trees and shrubs, where automobiles are forced to slow and curtsy to natural growth. After a long silence Frank spoke lines written years ago by the great poet Rabindranath Tagore: "Be still my heart, these great trees are a prayer."

It was my turn now, so I grinned,

"And Frank, you are 'purtty' too."

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
C. Edward Graves
Western Representative,
National Parks Association

CHILSON ADDRESS

I have just received a news release of an address by Assistant Secretary of the Interior, Hatfield Chilson, before the 22nd North American Wildlife Conference in Washington on March 5. It was entitled: Natural Resources in the Future of Democracy. It is a carefully developed appraisal of the future of our water resources, our national parks and our wildlife.

Starting with the recent statement by the President that water is fast becoming this country's most critical resource, he mentions the work of the Bureau of Reclamation, the research program of converting ocean water into fresh water, and another one of reducing evaporation in our reservoirs. The latter program, he says, is very promising. It calls to mind the recent controversy over the building of Echo Park Dam in Dinosaur National Mounment, in which the Bureau of Reclamation stated that greater evaporation at alternative sites was the main consideration in the choice of Echo Park Dam. This statement was proved by the conservation groups to be greatly in error mathematically. Perhaps Mr. Chilson's optimistic predictions of evaporation control will have dealt the final death blow to this phony argument.

In discussing power statements were made that I should like to comment on in connection with the present controversy over Bruce's Eddy Dam on the Clearwater River in Idaho. Mr. Chilson remarked that at the present time we get about 20 percent of our power from hydroelectric plants but that in the next 20 years we can expect that falling water will supply only 8½ percent of new generating capacity. The Federal Power Commission, he said, estimates that 14½ percent may come from our atomic energy plants, and that the great bulk, 77 percent, will have to come from steam plants, burning fossil fuels.

In a previous column I commented on the fact that steam generated power in the Northwest, according to the statements of leading power men in that region, would soon be available in large quantity. Here then we have confirmation from the highest governmental source that since power from Bruce's Eddy Dam would be only a small part of the total of 8½ percent of hydropower, its loss would be a mere drop in the bucket and would be absorbed without notice by the great increase in atomic energy and steam-generated power.

Farther on in his address, in speaking about wildlife conservation, he remarks: "The basic problem facing wildlife administrators today is this: How can we expand our fish and wildlife resources to accommodate a growing population in the face of declining fish and wildlife habitat arising out of our expanding economy?

This is an excellent question to be considered in connection with Bruce's Eddy Dam. The wildlife there is among the best in the United States. It takes care of the needs of one of our largest elk herds and the steelhead fishing is among the finest in the country. If our congressmen would take Mr. Chilson's question to heart in deciding how to vote on the deletion of Bruce's Eddy Dam from the Omnibus Rivers and Harbors Bill, the result would go a long ways toward solving the problem that he poses for wildlife administrators.

Don Clampett

Donald Clampett died on Monday morning in a local hospital. He had been in ill health for four months since returning from a trip to Europe where he travelled extensively with his brother, Robert D. Clampett of Vichy, France. During the greater part of his illness he was a patient in a San Francisco hospital but returned to Carmel on March 16.

Mr. Clampett was associated with Corum Jackson in the real estate business and lived at Santa Rita and Serra Streets. He first came to Carmel in 1908 when his parents, the late Reverend Frederick W. Clampett, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church in San Francisco, and Mrs. Clampett, purchased a summer home in Carmel. After her husband's death, in 1929, Mrs. Clampett lived in this house for many years and her son, Donald Clampett, moved here permanently about 30 years ago.

Born 61 years ago in Baltimore, Maryland, he graduated from the University of California where he was a member of Psi Upsilon fraternity. A veteran of World War I, Mr. Clampett was a member of the American Legion.

Besides his brother, Robert, in France, Mr. Clampett is survived by two other brothers, Frederick E. Clampett of Palo Alto and Paul H. Clampett of Carmel; a sister, Mrs. Martin Flavin of Pebble Beach; an aunt, Mrs. Edmund Dexter of Carmel Valley and several nieces and nephews.

Private funeral services were held on Tuesday in the Dorney and Farlinger Memorial Chapel, followed by cremation in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea Crematorium.

Jeanne Ghelfi

Mrs. Jeanne Ghelfi died on Sunday after a brief illness in the Atherton home of her daughter, Mrs. Redmond F. Kernan, with whom she had been staying since Christmas. She had previously lived in Carmel for 17 years.

Mrs. Ghelfi was born on October 26, 1864, in Northern France and came to the United States 40 years ago. She had been a widow for many years.

Besides Mrs. Kernan, she is survived by two other daughters, Miss Adrienne Dufour of Carmel and Mrs. Jean Boesch of Little Neck, New York, and six grandchildren, one of whom is Miss Renee Dufour of Carmel.

Rosary was recited on Tuesday evening in the Kernan home in Atherton. Requiem Mass was celebrated on Wednesday morning in the Church of the Nativity, Menlo Park. Burial took place in the Holy Cross Cemetery, Menlo Park.

"How old am I?"
asks Mrs. Edna Short, 924 Jackson, Albany, California

Ever noticed? The grand thing about grandmothers these days is not their age—but how youthful they look!

One good reason is modern household appliances. They've taken over the tough, back-breaking chores that used to rob women of their youth and beauty long before their time.

Mrs. Short, pictured with grandson Kim, is a wonderful example. This 45-year-old grandmother leaves most of her hard work to labor-saving appliances. How about you?

Here's the beauty of it: With P. G. and E.'s low rates for gas and electricity you can run a houseful of appliances all day—for about half the price of a bottle of liquid make-up.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

Ruth Galvin Thornburg, Librarian

We are expanding our fiction capacity by two lengths of shelving on the upper level of the library. Sometime in the near future we hope that two more lengths can be added. Then we shall be secure for a time against the dreadful practice of shelving novels on top of novels. There is something about the sight of books jammed in over other books that gives a librarian goose-bumps. The last of the Harrison Collection is now behind glass doors, but this does not keep the books from circulating. It merely gives the library a positive check upon who has the books, and for how long. Another year we hope to extend the glass doors far enough to provide a place for the old and rare books now in the library's collection. Old books need to be kept from dust, and from moisture, and careless handling.

The magazine Wisdom is here at last. Due to a misunderstanding on the part of the publishers, we had to wait four months for our subscription to start. We think you will enjoy this large and beautifully illustrated magazine. We have the back issues from volume 1 to part 1, so there are a few issues which can circulate right away.

Let's headline our bits about new books today with a word or two on Jessamyn West's To See the Dream. It is a warm, human account of a year spent in southern California during the filming of Miss West's book The Friendly Persuasion. That was a good book, which was made into an excellent motion picture, and now this really fine To See the Dream wraps it up in superior fashion.

With the eyes of the world on Suez, this is an auspicious period in history for Harpers to bring out a new book on the digging of the canal, and the man who planned and executed that great feat of engineering skill. The book was written by Charles Beatty and is entitled DeLesseps of Suez.

We have a new book on bridge by Blackwood, the title of which is On Bidding. It expounds a new system of point-count and playing-trick methods, and is said to be "a step ahead that up-to-date players have been looking for".

A book for expectant fathers is called Husbands and Pregnancy. This is a change in viewpoint, since most books on pregnancy are written for mothers due to the fact that they are vitally involved in the process. This book is small, is written in simple fashion, and should be most helpful.

Gina Cerminara, who wrote Many Mansions, has a new book on reincarnation which is entitled The World Within. As in her former book, she bases much of her discussion on the readings of the American psychic, Edgar Cayce. Spelled that way his name is, but pronounced Casey it is, in case you were wondering a bit.

There are seven new novels this week, including The Believers by Janice Holt Giles, and The Philadelphian, by Richard Powell.

Betty Buffington Married

Betty Buffington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Charles Buffington was married on Saturday to Vincent Richard Colletto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Colletto of Monterey. The 2:00 o'clock ceremony was performed by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray in the chapel of the Church of the Wayfarer before an altar decorated with white peach blossoms and red tulips. The wedding music was played by Connell K. Carruth.

The bride wore a pale blue suit with white accessories and a white orchid corsage. Following the ceremony a luncheon for family members was held at Cerrito's where the wedding cake, surrounded by pink carnations, centered the table.

The young couple are making their home in Carmel at the Homestead Inn owned by the bride's parents.

O'Malleys Finally Got Off Ship

Back from a two and a half months' trip to the South Seas are Mr. and Mrs. Bill O'Malley. They travelled "through the land of no decisions" on a Norwegian freighter which arrived at Papeete, Tahiti, in time to welcome the new year, and made stops at Tonga, American and Western Samoa, New Caledonia, the New Hebrides, Fiji and New Guinea.

When the O'Malleys arrived in San Francisco they couldn't leave the ship so continued with her to Canada and back again.

The second time they docked in San Francisco they were met by Mr. and Mrs. Art Strasburger who drove up from Carmel to convince the O'Malleys they should return to land and their home in Carmel.

"Now I have to make decisions," says Mrs. O'Malley.

Jean Kellogg's India Slides

Colored slides taken on a recent trip to India were shown by artist Jean Kellogg to a group of friends invited by Miss Kellogg to the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Klene on Sunday afternoon. Miss Kellogg commented, as she showed her pictures, on the art, architecture, history, philosophy and religion of India. Her slides showing pre-Buddhist sculpture were of particular interest as were, also, those pictures showing the people of the country and the Himalayas.

Miss Kellogg visited Ceylon and the Philippines, too, on her trip from which she returned a few weeks ago. She saw many places not usually visited by tourists making her pictures and comments especially interesting to her Carmel friends.

Oriental Paintings At RLS

From April 1-5 the paintings will be on sale at Marsh's Oriental Arts in Monterey, all proceeds to go to the Robert Louis Stevenson Building Fund.

PTA Potluck Dinner

Two hundred and eighty persons attended the Sunset School PTA potluck dinner last week.

After dinner parents left the cafeteria for the auditorium where they were entertained by the Sunset Choir, Band and Dramatics Club.

Sunset Supper Club was the setting for the gay musical part of the program directed by Louise McCluskey, and Arthur Holman.

A Case For Two Detectives was the play given by the Dramatics Club. The audience joined announcer Jon Thomsen in exposing the murderer amid much laughter at the two detectives, Quentin Van Quentin of the armchair school, played by Chris Keeble, and Rivets O'Neill of the rought tough private eye school, portrayed by Michael McGibney. Annie, the maid, best screamer ever heard on Sunset stage, was the part taken by Sheri Gilbert. Dianne Whelan was the daughter of the murdered man. Jeanne Eagleton played the part of her mother. Others in the cast were La Brun Houston, who lacked her breakfast most convincingly; Jim Pruitt, a servant; Susan Eddy, secretary to the murdered man; Franklin Bucher, a tycoon and his garrulous author admiring wife was Barbara Cooke.

Jon Thomsen was student director and Mrs. Beatrice Rea was sponsor. Stage crew members were Jim Pruitt, James Wilcox and Chris Keeble; Nancy Harpel and Jeanne Eagleton were prompters. Sets were designed by Cynthia Beattie and Anne Hagemeyer. Make-up was the work of Jean Harrah.

Mary Hawes Adams Born

The birth of an eight pound daughter, Mary Hawes, on St. Patrick's Day in the Peninsula Community Hospital made Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Adams Jr. first time parents and City Building Inspector and Mrs. Floyd Adams Sr. fourth time grandparents.

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

The Chamber Music Concert, March 17, drew a full house, partly because of participation by the Hartnell College Madrigal Singers whose friends came from Salinas. The selections by the Choir, conducted by Vahe Aslanian, dated from 1521 to 1791. These chanson musicale, so popular in medieval times, included pieces by Gartoldi, DeMonte, Monteverdi, Consilium, Certon, Scarlatti, Vivaldi and Mozart, and two anonymous composers. Twelve good-looking young people, grouped around a table of lighted candles, the pastel-colored evening dresses making a lovely picture, sang with the simplicity of undeveloped voices that these songs demand and in good harmonic balance.

In Vivaldi's Gloria excerpt Nancy Faut and Judith Masson were heard in duet, and Nancy Faut, with a flute-like voice, was soloist in the Mozart Agnus Dei. Staten Johnson particularly pleased in his solo from Monteverdi's Arianna. Others contributing pleasing voices were Ann Lopes, Susan Ames, Jane Anthony, Nora Aldrich, Barbara Lipsky, Carol Ann Stewart, Joe Bass, John Sampaga, Don Smith, Walter Weydell, Alfred Machado, Claude Ponting and Donald Shields. Besides conducting, Aslanian accompanied some numbers on the piano.

Much interest centered in the Sonata for Violin and Piano by Lansdale Podberewski, composer, who studied with Stokowski, now living in Monterey. She played the piano with the violinist Redentor Romero. Its three movements, poco andante, scherzo and larghetto were written in modern erratic and dissonant progressions, the scherzo showing most form, but the whole, though somewhat redundant in length, was an ambitious offering from a gifted musician with creative ability. The work had not only strength and full tonality, but gave the violin adequate character and quite difficult variety. Its premiere establishes another worthwhile professional musician on the Peninsula.

The big Brahms Quintet for piano, violin, viola and cello was well played by Wade Parks, David Hagemeyer, Eiko Yoshizato, Marie Sale and Carol Marsh. Brahms, who first wrote Quintet for two pianos, subsequently developed it into one of his fullest and most beautiful chamber compositions. It could have stood more rehearsal. Nevertheless, the performance resulted in one of brilliancy and satisfaction, and completed one of the most interesting programs so far arranged by Gilbert Boyer, Director of the Chamber Series. An Evening of Chamber Opera will be the final of the season at Sunset, May 4-5, with the Peninsula College Opera Department.

Stamp Club Affiliates With APS

Colonel John R. Wright presided over the meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club when it was voted to affiliate with the American Philatelic Society. Membership in this national group gives the local club an added prestige.

Alan Wigham read a communication from the secretary of the A. P. S. describing the advantages of belonging. Among these are the privilege of having an authority to verify stamps and detect forgeries; an individual number which admits the holder to other groups. Six members of the local club have previously obtained numbers in the APS.

Judge Richard Eldred of Pacific Grove and Jesse Martin of Pebble Beach won door prizes—orders for stamps on Stallings Stamp Shop of Carmel and Blankenship's Monterey Stamp Store.

L. S. Stallings conducted an "Information, Please" series of stamp quizzes and a stamp scramble and swap session. Refreshments were served.

The next meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club will be an auction to be held on Monday, April 1 in the Carmel High School.

The Valley babies were all born at the Peninsula Community Hospital.

Boyer Pupils In Program Sunday

The public is cordially invited to attend a recital by advanced students of the Carmel Studios of Music, directed by Gilbert Boyer, at the Carmel Craft Studios on Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock.

Pianists on the program will include Carol Crumpley of Pacific Grove who will play the Prelude, Chorale and Fugue of Cesar Franck; Judy Paplow of Carmel playing Bach's Prelude and Fugue No. 2 from the Well Tempered Clavichord, Volume No. 1, the Chopin Scherzo in B-minor and the First Arabesque of Debussy; Jean Rogers of Salinas, Chopin Etudes, Op. 10, Nos. 1, 5 and 12 and Op. 25, No. 2; and Herbert Myers of Seaside a Scarlatti Sonata and Gershwin Prelude. Gilbert Boyer is the teacher of this group in advanced piano.

Also included on the March 31 program will be the Allegro from Concerto No. 5 for violin by Seitz, played by Midge Young of Monterey, studying with Mrs. Eiko Yoshizato, and Polonaise and Badinage by Bach for flute played by Gilbert Boyer Jr. of Carmel who is studying with Mrs. Mitzi Erickson.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

God's infinite goodness will be brought out in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Reality" at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural selections will include the following from the Gospel of John (1:1, 3): "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God . . . All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made."

Correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (472:24-26): "All reality is in God and His creation, harmonious and eternal. That which He creates is good, and He makes all that is made."

The Golden Text is from Psalms (18:32): "It is God that girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way perfect."

Lanz Fashion Show Set For April 4

The third in a series of spring fashion shows will be given by Lanz, Ocean Avenue specialty shop, one week from today, on April 4, at the Pine Inn Garden Restaurant, during luncheon, 12 to 2:00 o'clock. As in the two previous Lanz fashion shows, models will parade informally among the luncheon tables displaying new 1957 frocks, costumes, separates, and evening and party dresses.

"Summer, resort and vacation fashions will be stressed to a greater extent than in the January and March shows," announced Mrs. Bianca Kulka, Carmel manager for Lanz. "On April 4 we will show sun dresses and coordinated ensembles which combine skirts, blouses, bathing suits and mix-or-match tops, intended for travel and vacation wear."

Easter colors will be emphasized in the Lanz April 4 show. A new-season version of gold, a fresh green, blue, pink and lilac will be seen in fashions modeled. "In the Forest," an original Lanz print, will appear in the show in a range of two-tone color combinations in five-piece ensembles combining sleeveless blouse; long-sleeve shirt-blouse; full, self-fabric, belted skirt; and matching bathing suit. Mrs. Kulka plans, too, to reveal Lanz' conception of new evening and party fashions as exemplified by a frock joining a cap-sleeved linen bodice to a full Swiss organdy skirt, embellished with appliqued flowers. Pure silk organza prints for formal afternoon and summer evening events also will be modeled, with double petticoats underneath the skirts.

Patterson Will Go To Co. Supervisors Again For Zoning

a series of public hearings at which the state beaches and parks commission, the Highlands Association, the Lobos League, the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society, the Western Representative of the National Parks Association, and individual citizens protested opening up to commercial development any land between highway No. 1 and the ocean, especially land adjacent to a future state beach, which has been chosen because of its scenic value and will be kept as free as possible from construction and development.

Nearby property owners in Palo Colorado supported Mr. Patterson.

Mr. Patterson appealed the planning commission's first "no" to the board of supervisors last month and they (four men voting) referred his application back to the planning commission for further study.

Tuesday the planning commission held another public hearing on it, looked at some aerial maps presented by Ralph Thompson, Mr. Patterson's attorney, and heard Mr. Patterson tell of the kind of place he had in mind to build. In addition to the restaurant, bar, etc. there would be trout ponds, he said, a family gathering place, where one could catch his fish, and cook it there in a barbecue pit or take it home, and the public would be allowed to go down to the rocks to fish in the ocean.

Mr. Patterson, who is 80 years old, full of charm and loved by everybody who knew him in his restauranteur days in Carmel, does not plan to operate the project himself. August Nieto, proprietor of Su Vecino restaurant in Carmel, will be in charge. When Mr. Patterson first applied for re-zoning, nearly a year ago, Cole Weston was to manage the proposed restaurant. Mr. Patterson bought the property less than three years ago, after the new zoning ordinance had been framed. He acknowledged Tuesday that he was aware, when he bought it, of the restrictions on the land. Planning Commission Member Peter Cailetto emphasized this point, "so we are under no moral obligation" when he made his motion again to refuse the rezoning request. Carmel's Keith Evans seconded the motion, and it passed by a vote of six to three.

The three commissioners who changed their minds: Don Colegrove, Walter Rosenberg and John Thornberry. They did not give their reason for their about-face though Mr. Thornberry, an assistant district attorney, asked before the vote was taken: "Do the people who are protesting this rezoning know that this land could be used for a subdivision of single family dwellings on sixty-foot lots without the owner's having to get a use permit?"

The answer is yes. And the next move is to plug up that hole in the zoning ordinance.

Two Of Mary's Pictures Sold

A cablegram sent to Spain this week by Augie Nieto will tell Mary Miller (Mrs. Fred Klepich) that two of her pictures have been sold by Babs Balzer, in charge of the art supply store and gallery run by Fred and Mary Klepich in the Craft Center. The Klepiches are in Spain at present with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Emory, on a European painting jaunt.

Luboshutz and Nemenoff, duo pianists, appear at Sunset School Auditorium on Saturday evening, at 8:30 o'clock, presented by the Carmel Music Society. Season ticket holders are to use the ticket marked for April 27 for this concert. Luboshutz and Nemenoff replace pianist Walter Gieseking who was booked for April 27 beforehis death.

Luboshutz and Nemenoff, in private life Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Luboshutz, are on their twentieth annual nation-wide tour following their first European tour since the war.

Planners Recommend Uniform Numbering Throughout County

The county planning commission at its Tuesday meeting decided that it would be a good thing if everybody in the county got property numbered for mail delivery purposes.

The Watsonville Post Office has complained that its RFD deliveries are becoming difficult because of the confusion in box numbers, and suggested that the county work out a uniform house numbering plan. It would cost around $26,000 and take about 20 months, Larry Wise reported to the commission. The cities would be included if they wished but would not be compelled to join in the project, Wise assured Commission Member from Carmel, Keith Evans. The latter said that in the rural areas around Carmel there is some conflict and confusion in the box and house numbers and a uniform numbering plan would probably be welcome, but Carmel, which doesn't have house numbers to get in confusion and doesn't want any, would undoubtedly prefer to be counted out.

The commissioners, figuring it would have to be done some time and the sooner the cheaper, decided to ask the supervisors to provide in the budget money to pay the salary of an additional man on the county planning commission's technical staff; the new man to devote his time exclusively to making a preliminary number plan survey.

unincorporated area such as when the Patterson house burned down several years ago," he said Wednesday morning, "then there'll be more interest in a fire district again."

Capt. Allen is calling a Carmel Unincorporated board of directors meeting in the near future and until then, "nothing can be done" about fire protection, he stated.

Councilman Carl Patnude, fire commissioner for Carmel is relaxing after the election.

"We can't do anything until Carmel Unincorporated comes to us." he said.

Clerk Larry Rose to send a letter to the Monterey County Citizens Planning Council telling them the Commission approved of their hillside development suggestions embodied in proposed ordinances but at present see no immediate need for such ordinances in Carmel.

The Carmel Planning Commission unanimously went to record yesterday afternoon to support Senate Bill 666, controlling billboards along State highways. They added to this the suggestion that distance between signs be considered to prevent "a collection of signs" in permitted areas. The Commission thinks a cluster of closely placed signs unsightly.

These two decisions will be sent by City Clerk Larry Rose to State Senator Fred Farr, who introduced the bill into the legislature, and the California Roadside Council which is supporting the bill.

Carmel School Dist. To Have Seven New Teachers Next Fall

Carmel Unified School Board authorized School Superintendent Stuart Mitchell to hire seven new teachers at its meeting Tuesday night. Five non-teaching employees are also to be taken on the payroll, which will be hiked $47,000 by the new salaries.

The district cannot afford to grant any teacher pay raises during 1956-57, the board decided looking at the $721,350 budget the firm of the Reed and Heckenlaible has proposed for the district.

The board adopted a 181 day school calendar, with school starting September 3, 1957 and closing June 12, 1958. It accepted with expressions of regret the resignation of Mrs. Mildred Riker, high school registrar and secretary to the principal. She is retiring after 14 years with the school district.

Shirer To Speak At Woman's Club

Carmel Woman's Club will have William L. Shirer, world-famous author, radio-television commentator, as guest speaker for the April general meeting, Monday afternoon, April 1 at 2:00 o'clock, at the clubhouse, San Carlos and Ninth. This will be an open meeting, and tickets may be obtained by calling Mrs. Menneken at MA 4-7865. The price of tickets is $1.25, and reservations of guests, and non-members should be made as soon as possible because of limited seating capacity. Mr. Shirer's subject will be: The World Today.

WATER

These lovely birds know without questioning that this bowl which stands in the midst of the garden contains water for them to drink.

We know without questioning that all the water we need for any purpose can be obtained simply by turning the handle of the faucet.

And our faith in the immediacy of an abundant water supply goes deeper than the faucet. We know without questioning that a vast system of pipe lines, pumps, and reservoirs will function at our command. And this faith implies faith in the men who planned and built the system and in those who maintain and operate it for our benefit.

The value of such faith is without price!
